

Dingoes

Do you know about Australia's wild dog? The dingo is a strong wild dog that lives in Australia. Dingoes have been around for thousands of years. I don't think that people should kill them because there are more domestic dog attacks than dingo attacks.

Dingoes live in Australia and Southern Asia. Their habitats are snowy mountains, forests, deserts, woodland, grasslands, and tropical regions. They live there because they have room to roam and there are not a lot of people. I think that people should mind their own business and leave the dingo alone.

Now we will talk about their looks. Dingoes have a pointed muzzle and pointed ears with a long bushy tail. Their color is determined by where they live. Their hair is between short and long. The color of their hair is black, white, or red. I think they are very pretty dogs.

Do you know that dingoes eat kangaroos? They also eat lizards, rabbits, birds, rodents, fruits, and plants. I wouldn't think that they would eat kangaroos or lizards, but they do.

We will talk about the dingo puppies. One litter consists of 1-10 puppies. The sad part is only twenty five percent of the puppies live. Dingo puppies can only live off their Mothers milk for two weeks. I think it's sad that only twenty five percent of the puppies live.

The dingo is the largest terrestrial predator in Australia. They are 24 inches tall and they can live up to 13 years. Also they can't bark they howl. They hunt in packs or alone. Dingoes were brought to Australia by the Seafarers and the Europeans. All the research I've done doesn't say why they were brought too Australia. I think they might have brought them for hunting and controlling the rodent population. They are big dogs but not the biggest and they live a long time.

Dingoes should be left alone. Like I said before there probably wouldn't be so many attacks if we left them alone. There are more domestic dog attacks than dingo attacks. I think they should be left alone because they might become endangered if people keep killing them.

That's all I have to tell you about dingoes
