Gulliver's Travels Day 37 Answer Sheet

- Who do the soldiers think has sent the giant?
 - The soldiers think the bigenders sent the giant
- Evaluate the emperor as a ruler. Whose advice does he rely on?
 - The emperor is full of himself, greedy with power, airheaded, and stubborn. He chooses advisors based on their agility and skill as acrobats.
- Why are Bigenders the enemies of the Lilliputians? What is the origin of their feud? How is that an example of satire?
 - The bigenders refused to crack an egg on the little end of the egg like the Lilliputians had decreed so they went to war. Satire is making fun of something to make a political or cultural point. This story uses a ridiculous, improbable conflict to make us think about things that we get into arguments about that aren't important or worth a fight.
