

Nigerian Flag

Color the Nigerian flag and read about its history.

The current flag of Nigeria was chosen in 1959 from a redesign contest. It is made up of two outer green bands, representing the fertile land of Nigeria, and a middle white band that represents peace and unity.

Nigeria celebrated its independence from Britain on October 1, 1960. The Union Jack was lowered, and the new Nigerian flag was raised for the first time.